

U. S. Collects a Record $189 Million in State

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas residents paid a record $189,053,297 in federal taxes during the 1957 calendar year, the Internal Revenue Service office here says in a report issued yesterday.

The total was $8,064,852 above the 1956 figure with the largest increase showing in withholding tax statistics.

Charles R. Mathis, Arkansas director of the IRS, attributed the overall increase to improved economic conditions.

"We may be losing some population," Mathis said, "but the people who are staying here apparently are making more money because they're paying more taxes."

Here are some highlights from the report:

Total federal taxes paid in 1957 — $81,933,197. In 1956 — $76,052,520.

Individual income tax collections — $63,350,447. In 1956 — $59,371,099.

Corporation income taxes — $32,600,798. In 1956 — $34,787,972.

Still Freezing in Sections of Florida

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Early-rising south Floridians were greeted by temperatures hovering around the freezing point today, and a valuable citrus crop was threatened in the central section of the state.

Many homes are without heating systems and residents huddled near electric heaters.

The unusual sight of frost was reported in suburban Coral Gables. The price of firewood was up from the early fall price of $18 for half a cord to $23 at one Miami woodyard.

The lowest temperature reported in the farming belt south of Miami was 31 degrees. It was enough to crack tomatoes. The major crop being harvested at present.

The state's lowest temperature — 18 degrees — was reported at Hague, just north of Gainesville in north Florida.

Soviets Again in Threat to Turkey

MOSCOW (AP) — Red Star said today that U. S. atomic and rocket bases on Turkish soil would be subject to devastating retaliation in case of war.

Red Star, the Defense Ministry's newspaper, charged that the United States was trying to turn Turkey into a bridgehead of aggression against the Soviet Union.

The paper charged that U. S. preparations in Turkey are spearheaded against the Soviet Union and American rocket bases are being set up in Turkey exclusively to enable the United States to attack the Soviet Union from near-by.

"Washington apparently does not care a whit what happens to Turkey, but the rulers of Turkey at least should give the matter some thought," it said.

This new attack on Turkey came after a lull of about six weeks of a campaign against Russia's neighbor.

The last warning to Turkey came in a note from Premier Nikolai Bulganin to the Turkish government on Nov. 26. It claimed that the Turks were planning an attack against Syria.

When the Russians brought the charges up in the United Nations last fall, Western spokesmen labeled the Soviet campaign an "artificial war scare."

Brucker Approves Gavin's Request

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lt. Gen. James Gavin's request for retirement has been approved by Secretary of the Army Brucker after a final effort to keep the critic of defense policies in uniform.

"I have done my best to persuade him to stay," Brucker said in announcing that he had "reluctantly" approved Gavin's application to retire March 31 after completing 30 years of Army service.

Gavin, chief of Army research and development, earlier in the day had told the Senate Preparedness subcommittee his decision to retire was final. Brucker said he made one more try at getting Gavin to change his mind, even after the general had taken this position.

Spurning Pentagon offers of promotion to full general within 14 months and a choice of two assignments until then, Gavin told senators, "I can do better for the Army outside than in."

Fate of Cowboys in Shows Today Saddens Mr. Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — What are they doing to the wild, wild West and that saddle-sore hero, yore — the American cowboy?

In both the movies and television this emblem of American masculinity has fallen upon sad times. One who knew him in his prime has a hankering now and then to see him climb aboard old Pinto for the last time, turn and wave farewell, and canter off into oblivion.

That way, at least, the cowboy could retain some of his former dignity—and the fiction writers could drum up a new hero, such as the missile jockey or the space ranger.

What am I so peeved about? Well, I'd tell you, pardner, I'm plumb spooked about how they have watered down the good old-fashioned horse opera and turned the cowboy into little Lord Fauntleroy in sombrero.

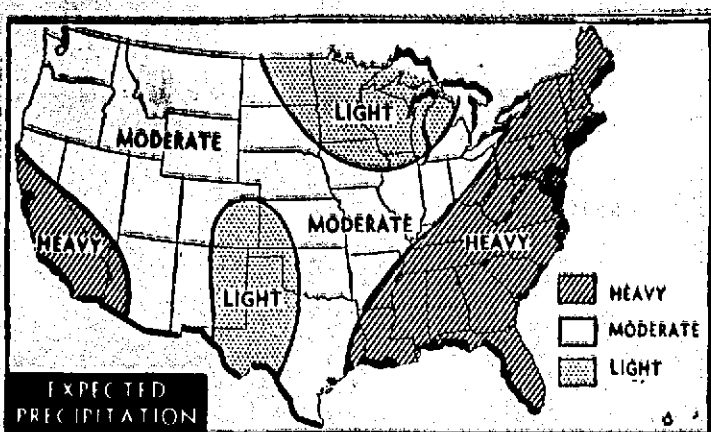

The horse opera in its original form was one of the simplest and most satisfying art mediums ever devised. The villain reeled of evil.

But today you can pay $1.50, and instead of Zane Grey or Max Brand, you get two hours of Sigmond Freud — in color. You are left to mull over whether the sheriff shot the bad man because of an Oedipus complex, and whether the bad man really was bad or just a crazy kid with a mixed up ID.

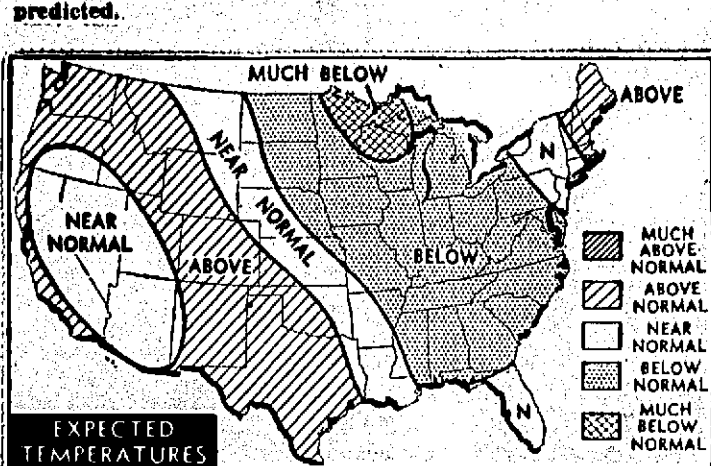

Shades of William S. Hart, the pattern of all movie cowboys! Since he, Harry Carey, Hoot Gibson and Tom Mix passed from the screen, the movie cowboy has gone nowhere but downhill.

Pardner, those gaudies were real hairy-chested buckos. They looked like cowboys. They wore bandanas, leather arm cuffs, and leather or sheepskin chaps — the same clothes the honest working cowboy once wore. They sang out Precipitation from now until February is expected to exceed normal from the Ohio and Lower Mississippi Valleys eastward to the Atlantic seaboard, with increasing snows in the northern half as January progresses. Above normal precipitation is also anticipated over California. Subnormal amounts are indicated over the Southern Plains, western Great Lakes Region, and Upper Mississippi Valley. In other areas about normal is predicted.

This marks a wintry change from the mild conditions which prevailed over late December. West of the Divide temperatures are expected to average above normal, except near normal over the Southern Plateau.

Laughs Cause Two Bandits to Flee

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — James Pace clerk at a liquor store here, told police he laughed at an attempted holdup and the would-be bandits fled.

Two Negro men entered the store Tuesday night and demanded money, Pace said, with one man holding his hand in a pocket as though clutching a pistol.

But the pocket looked too small to conceal a gun so Pace merely laughed. The pair ran off.

Faubus Wants U. S. to Pay for Science

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval Faubus says he has a proposal which would enable the federal government to "improve" science training in public schools without spending an extra cent.

The governor said it could be done through a federal law amendment channeling some of the money now earmarked for vocational agriculture into subsidies for scientific instruction.

Faubus outlined the suggestion at a meeting of the Governor's Advisory Committee on Education yesterday.

Explaining his proposal, the governor pointed out that currently the federal government pays 50 per cent of the cost of salaries for vocational agriculture instructors but stops this aid if they are used to teach other subjects. He said this restriction should be removed.

Faubus told the committee the Arkansas State Department of Education is working on his idea. Other states might be interested he added.

As Faubus sees it, too much emphasis is placed on vocational agriculture in Arkansas schools. But he warned against a shift to the other extreme and declared that science training should not be over emphasized.

Faubus also mentioned a referendum, scheduled for November that will decide whether a 1957 sales tax boost of one per cent is to be repealed.

He urged the committee to work against repeal of the increase.

Primary purpose of the committee meeting was the consideration of proposals by Dr. Francis G. Cornell of New York, consultant to the GARE, for improvements in Arkansas educational methods.

See Way to Relieve Farm Credit Problem

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright (D-Ark.) and four other Southern senators hope they can relieve the farm credit problem in states which have suffered heavy crop damage from last fall's long rains.

Fulbright and Sens. James O. Eastland, (D-Miss), Stuart Symington (D-Mo) and Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) today plan to introduce a bill which would establish a 200 million dollar fund for agriculture disaster relief loans.

Funds would be provided by authorizing the Farm Credit Administration to direct intermediate credit banks to make loans available through Production Credit Associations.

The senators said this would bring immediate relief to farmers and their suppliers in hard-hit areas.

Borrowers could negotiate loans repayable over three to five years, and these loans, under the plan, would not interfere with farmers' ability to arrange next year for currently authorized one-year production loans.

Diamonds Found in Sahara Desert

ALGERS (AP) — The Algerian Mining Research Bureau today said exploring teams have found deposits of diamonds, platinum, nickel and copper in the Sahara.

The bureau said the finds were made during a three-month search in the mountainous Hoggar region, 1,250 miles due south of Algiers.

The nickel and four traces of platinum were located 215 miles north of the region's chief town, Tamanrasset, the bureau said.

Forty miles east of the town diamonds and five more platinum traces were discovered.

The copper was said to be located 215 miles south of Tamanrasset.

Space Trip Story Was Premature

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Investigation now clearly indicates that the Associated Press erred Monday in using the phrase "reliable sources" in its report that the Soviet Union had launched a manned rocket into space.

The investigation shows that while the unofficial sources quoted had proved reliable in the past, they were reporting rumors in this case. There has been no formal denial of the rumors from the Soviet government.

The facts thus far developed are these:

The Moscow staff says it heard the manned rocket reports from East European correspondents and at least one Western embassy but did not file the story for another 48 hours, while it continued checking.

Advised that other agencies were carrying the story abroad, Moscow then gave the story by telephone to London. It was in this process that the misunderstanding arose. Two London staffers who took the call say they understood the Moscow staffer to say the story could be attributed to reliable sources.

Immediately after this, stringers in Moscow reported that the manned rocket man story, which was based on the Moscow bureau said, that while the adjective "reliable" could apply to the sources from which the reports came, the rumor they were relaying was completely unconfirmed.

Until late Wednesday, Soviet censorship curtailed further news and inquiry and while the Soviet Union made no formal denial of the rocketman story, officials of the Committee for Cultural Relations with Foreign Countries, and a spokesman for the Soviet Academy of Sciences said they had no information about it.

A Soviet Foreign Ministry spokesman in Moscow said he could say nothing about the accounts.

The deputy director of the Soviet news agency Tass was quoted as saying in a Moscow broadcast that in London Tuesday that it was "completely incorrect" to believe "to him how Western news agencies obtained the report."

Gambling Is Resumed in Hot Springs

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Big-scale gambling resumed here last night when roulette wheels spun at the Pines Supper Club, the Hot Springs Sentinel Record reported today.

Rumors of a renewal of major gambling have been current for several days.

The Sentinel-Record said three casinos besides the Pines are expected to start operations in the next few weeks. All four have been closed for about one year.

There have been reports that political factions here had made a truce which would result in re-opening of large-scale gambling. Garland County officials made no comment on these reports.

At Little Rock, both Gov. Orval Faubus and Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett have termed the matter a problem for local law enforcement officers.

Sheriffs of State Have Full Agenda

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas sheriffs had a full agenda of discussion subjects as their annual 2-day convention opened here today.

Scheduled topics included a retirement plan for the members of the Arkansas Sheriffs Association, higher pay and longer terms, and a boys ranch proposal.

At a pre-convention meeting of the association last night, details of the planned boys ranch for juvenile delinquents were presented by Desha County Sheriff Robert Moore.

He said plans call for the project to be sponsored jointly by the sheriffs association, and the Arkansas Peace Officers Association. Neither group intends to maintain the ranch but only to buy it.

Moore said a site near Hot Springs is being considered.

This is a 160-acre resort called Fountain Lake which Moore said can be obtained for $75,000. Facilities at the resort include a swimming pool, a bathhouse, six cottages and two large lodges.

The sheriffs association is expected to approve the plan for joint sponsorship with the peace officers group.

Law enforcement officers, county judges and prosecutors from throughout Arkansas attended the preliminary meeting.

U. S. Mother Reunited With Son

HONG KONG (AP) — An American mother was reunited today in Shanghai with her son imprisoned for life by the Chinese Communists on espionage charges. She had not seen him in 11 years.

"I feel wonderful," said Mrs. Ruth Redmond of Yonkers, N.Y., in a telephone conversation with Hong Kong. "Hugh is looking very good."

Hugh, a 38-year-old former businessman in Shanghai, has been held by the Reds since 1951.

Another mother, Mrs. Mary Downey of New Britain, Conn., also saw her son, John, in a prison at Peiping. Reuters News agency reported: She found him "very fit and in good spirits." Reuters said.

Mrs. Downey and a younger son, William, visited the prisoner for two hours. He has been imprisoned since 1952 on a life sentence on espionage charges.

Mrs. Downey and William arrived in Peiping with Mrs. Jessie Peeteau of Lynn, Mass., who is to see her son Richard. He is serving a 20-year sentence, also on espionage charges.

Authorities at the gray-walled prison told Mrs. Downey she and Mrs. Peeteau would be allowed to see their sons three times a week until their Chinese visas expire Jan. 10.

The Sentinel-Record said three casinos besides the Pines are expected to start operations in the next few weeks. All four have been closed for about one year.

Would Curb Traveling of Congressmen

By GORDON BROWN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. E. C. Gathings (D-Ark.) thinks Congress should cut down on investigations and on members' trips abroad.

He says investigations are essential to framing proper legislation but "sometimes the investigations go far afield and sometimes it seems to me there is a lot of duplication."

For example, he said, two or three investigations already are under way into missile and satellite programs and there may be others next year.

As to junkies — as Congressional trips sometimes are called — Gathings said they are of value and often provide members of Congress with important information but they can be overdone.

He said he had seen one report that about a third of the members of Congress were on trips of one sort or another last year.

Rep. W. F. Norrell (D-Ark.), after an intensive tour of his district, reports that the one single topic of "the greatest interest" was neither the Sputnik, the Russian threat, nor taxes — it was civil rights and the Little Rock situation.

"The President's action," he said, "pretty much killed the Republican party's chances in Arkansas."

"I just didn't find any Republicans left," he said.

Arkansas members of Congress aren't looking for the Army to let up this year in its efforts to close the Army-Navy hospital at Jot Springs.

They won't know the Army position until after the budget comes out and the Army states its position. But if the Army doesn't continue to advocate closing the hospital, the Arkansians will be surprised.

Operation of the hospital by the state as a rehabilitation hospital is a new possibility.

Sens. John L. McClellan and J. W. Fulbright, Arkansas Democrats, have suggested that local and state officials check into this. It may be that the Public Health Service will be asked by state.

Congress Told Service Rivalry to Be Dealt With

By MARVIN C. ARROWSMITH

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower laid down an eighth point "safely through strength" program today and called on the American people for sacrifice and a high degree of understanding so their country can wage total peace.

And, in an appeal to the Russian people over the heads of their Kremlin masters, Eisenhower said "The world must stop the present plunge toward more and more destructive weapons of war, and turn the corner that will start our steps firmly on the path toward lasting peace."

"The President's State of the Union message, delivered personally before a joint Senate-House session was one of repeated warnings of the great dangers that arise from the way he said the Soviets are waging total cold war."

Not it was one, too of stern resolve and confidence.

For his own part in the immediate future, Eisenhower pledged to take swift action to end service rivalries in the Pentagon.

"Whatever they are," he said, "America wants them stopped."

Eisenhower said he would have a detailed message later concerned with defense reorganization. There were hints from officials that this may shake up the present system of Joint Chiefs of Staff.

As for the threat from Russia's advances in rocketry Eisenhower had words of confidence.

"The consensus is that 'we are probably somewhat behind the Soviets in some areas of long-range ballistic missile development,'" he said.

"But it is my conviction, based on close study of all relevant intelligence, that if we make the necessary effort, we will have the missiles, in the needed quantity and in time, to sustain and strengthen the deterrent power of our increasingly efficient bombers."

The great hall of the House was packed for the eagerly awaited speech. Galleries were filled long before he arrived.

Those in the chamber included Cabinet officers, Supreme Court members and more than 70 representatives of other nations. Ambassador Georgi Zarubin of the Soviet Union was not among them.

In recognition that this was no ordinary occasion — even for a State of the Union address — children members of Congress

THE STORY: AT THE HOME of Mito Biglow, Ward Sebastian points out that the uprising of the Modocs is due to white men's greed and lack of understanding rather than viciousness on the part of the Indians. Anne, Biglow's daughter, finally breaks up the argument.

CHAPTER X

Anne led him back into the parlor. She faced him at the hearth and dug into him with some asperity.

"Did you have to act so?"

"How?"

"You know what I mean, arguing the way you did. And when Harley told you of going into the office with Dad, you—well—"

"I congratulated him, didn't I?"

"Yes—sarcastically. Was that necessary?"

In Mito Biglow's study the drone of Harley Ritter's reading had begun again. Sebastian crossed over and closed the door. His smile widening as he came back to the hearth.

"Will that have old Harley jumping? He'll be imagining all sorts of things, now. And—where were we, anyhow. Oh, yes, why did I spur Ritter, even gently? Well, quite frankly, Anne, I don't like friend Harley. He gets under my skin."

"Why should he? He's never done you any real harm."

Sebastian considered for a time, then spoke slowly.

"It is because he represents a type I don't care for. The soft, calculating, safe—and-sure type, who can argue loudly that extermination of Captain Jack and all his Modoc people is necessary and just, but who would faint dead away if forced to come face to face with them out in the lavas. The kind that never know a truly generous thought for someone less fortunate. The kind who like to decide the fate of men with words, but never deeds. These they leave to a hardier breed."

She looked up at him. He loomed lean and tall, dark-faced with a deep weathering burned and beaten into him by sun and storm. In the reserved depths of his eyes lay the reflection of far distances, often looked at and fully understood. This man belonged completely to the open country.

"Just—just when I'm sure I could cheerfully beat you, Ward Sebastian, then I—well—"

He drew her up, found her lips. Again for a little moment she answered his ardor and his cup was full and sweet. Then the soft submission of her became that taut resistance, and when he let her go she moved swiftly apart from him and stood staring at the fire.

"I must be carried away! I must think on this—think!"

"Think?" Sebastian's tone carried a faint edge.

"You don't understand, Ward. This isn't a casual sort of thing. It is such a—well—such a final decision. So it is necessary that I consider carefully, that I know my full mind."

"And you don't, is that it?"

"It isn't that, Ward. While you frighten me a little at times, I know you never mean it. No, it isn't that. It's what you would take me away from, what you would take me to. It—it's that ranch—"

"What's wrong with the ranch?" he defended. "It's a good ranch. Just now the headquarters isn't too big, but plenty big enough for the small likes of you. It's well built and comfortable. You'd be warm and safe and—"

"Safe? In a country where people are being massacred right and left? I just couldn't stand being there alone, with you away so much, running that pack train of yours all over creation. No, I just couldn't stand it!"

Sebastian had thought that if a woman loved a man the way she should, she'd follow him, knowing that he would care for her and guard her faithfully. Apparently that sort of thinking was just pale pipe smoke.

Abruptly he was thoroughly weary. He turned toward the hall.

"I have to hit the trail again at daylight, tomorrow, Anne," he said across his shoulder. "So I've got to get some sleep."

She followed him to the hall. "You see," she said. "You see how it is? You've been with me such a little time, and already you must leave. It's the trail again. It would always be the trail. Married to you, a woman would feel she was married to a shadow. Couldn't there be a business of some sort here in town?"

"No," he told her quietly. "No. There isn't any better way. To be any good in this world, a man must follow his own star, not one that someone else selects for him. And a woman must follow her man. Ward Sebastian, as you see him now, is one person. Ward Sebastian, tied down in town to some job or business that he hated, would be someone else entirely. You wouldn't care for him and he wouldn't care for himself."

He got into his coat stiffly, favoring his left arm, lips tightening at the drag of his coat sleeves across the bandaged wound.

Anne did not notice. She was staring straight ahead, seeing things of which she was fearful, wanting life yet afraid of it.

"Good night, Anne," he said. The rain was there, waiting for him, wet and chill and close. The wind pushed it at him, pushed it past him. A gust of it reached Anne Biglow, challenging her. She gasped and backed away from the challenge, closing the door quickly.

in saloons when they weren't out on the range, and they weren't afraid to belly up to the bar and belt down four fingers of bourbon, the breakfast of champions.

But today? The cowboy has been preflitted beyond belief. He relies on his guitar as much as his gun. Except for his sombrero and six-shooter, he is dressed like a city lounge-lizard who wants to wear those tiny old chaps any more?

The movie cowboy now avoids those nasty old saloons as much as possible. He leaves for Eagle Pass from a cozy restaurant where he takes more coffee breaks than the stenographer. Instead of dance hall dames, whose morals at least were never questionable, your modern horse opera is populated by lacy school-teacher, beautiful young cafe waitresses, and other would-be pioneer mothers.

On television, with a few exceptions, such as "Gunsmoke," the horse operas are even more sickeningly sterile. Instead of going "bang!" the guns go "ping?" Yes, the sound even has a question mark behind it, like this—"ping? ping? ping?"

Of course, on TV the model modern law feller tries to avoid a showdown. Any night now I expect to see the hero tell the bad man: "Drop that gun, son. Why not go along with me and see my psychiatrist? He'll show you how to get rid of those aggressive impulses. Look what he did for me."

Yep, the wild, Wild West is getting mild, mild, mild. You take the frontier, pardner. I'm saddling up and going back to Moth or Goose, where the tales are rougher but more satisfying.

were barred from the floor. In past, easier times, children have often been playing about as a president delivered his accounting.

Eisenhower, rosy-checked and looking fit, donned glasses to read his message.

He wore a gray business suit, with blue tie.

Eisenhower shook hands with Vice President Nixon and Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn of Texas.

When Eisenhower was formally introduced by Rayburn, Republicans led a standing ovation.

Eisenhower said Mrs. Eisenhower joined him in wishing members a happy New Year. Members arose and applauded the Direct Lady who stood and bowed.

Then when the President mentioned the birthdays of Nixon and Rayburn this week, members rose to applaud them.

When Eisenhower swung into his speech he stumbled over some words. But his voice was strong. There was no evidence of the slurred speech that accompanied his slight stroke last Nov. 24.

Republican congressional members took every occasion to applaud, but Democrats held back.

However, a number of Democrats joined in a display of approval for Eisenhower's assertion that the military organization must facilitate, rather than hinder, the nation's security.

There was general applause for Eisenhower's assertion that "harmful service rivalries" must be stopped.

When Eisenhower quoted a statement of President William McKinley that "Isolation is no Lyndon Johnson of Texas, the longer possible or desirable" Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, the Democratic leader, led the applause.

The word "gopher" comes from the French "gautre," meaning "war" or "honeycomb," an allusion to the maze of tunnels made by the animal.

General Still Will Resign, Senators Told

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin, Army research chief, told senators today he still plans to retire March 31 despite Pentagon offers of choice assignments and promotion to four-star rank.

Sen. Jackson (D-Wash.) said Gavin made this clear during more than two hours of closed-door testimony to the Senate Preparedness subcommittee.

"He isn't interested primarily in a promotion," Jackson said. "He knows he could not with integrity defend this year's Army budget for research and development."

Sen. Symington (D-Mo.) said Gavin, spent much time testifying to the superiority of the Soviet's ground forces, both in numbers and weapons.

While the U.S. Army has been cut back in funds and manpower to some 15 divisions, Symington quoted Gavin, the Soviet has 175 modern divisions of ground troops, many of them mechanized and equipped with most modern weapons.

A number of congressmen have urged that Gavin reconsider his plans to retire. Among them are Sens. Stennis (D-Miss) and Goldwater (R-Ariz.).

Secretary of the Army Brooke said yesterday that Gavin had been offered three ways in which he could reach four-star rank as an inducement to stay in service.

Secretary of Defense McElroy, asked by a reporter about the Gavin case, said Brooke had stated the Defense Department's position.

Benson Quits Soil Acreage Reserve Phase

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Agriculture leaders today welcomed the administration's decision to abandon the acreage reserve phase of the soil bank program.

In announcing the decision at a news conference yesterday, Secretary of Agriculture Benson said the limit of $3,000 a year on payments was keeping many larger operators out of the program.

Last year, Congress wrote the limitation on acreage reserve payments into the law. The limit became effective this year.

Benson said reduced participation would reduce the effectiveness of the program, designed to cut surpluses of cotton, corn, wheat, rice and tobacco by paying farmers to retire land from cultivation.

The acreage reserve program, under present law, would expire next year.

The long range phase of the soil bank — the conservation reserve program of planting land to trees and grass — will be continued.

The reaction of House agriculture leaders to the Benson announcement included some speculation that the deadlock between the secretary and Congress might be eased.

Rep. Abernethy (D-Miss), a member of the House Agriculture Committee, told newsmen that and congressional members of both political parties are far apart on farm policy, but he added, "I think both the Congress and the secretary are getting a little tired of the situation, and I think there might be some yielding on the part of both."

Rep. Coley (D-NC), chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, said in a separate interview he approved Benson's soil bank proposal but declared it represented no change otherwise in Benson's farm policies.

"I don't have the slightest idea that Congress will give him any more authority than he now has over price support levels," Coley said. "He wants complete control of the price support program. He won't get it."

Gas Transmission Co. Wants Rate Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas Gas Transmission Corp., Owensboro, Ky., has filed a proposed $1,477,000, or 1.8 per cent, annual wholesale natural gas rate increase with the Federal Power Commission.

The company offered the new filing in substitution for a proposed $3,438,000 increase which has been under suspension by the commission since last July. Though the five months suspension period expired Dec. 4, Texas Gas has not filed a motion to make that increase effective, subject to refund.

Texas Gas wants to make the new filing effective as of Jan. 30. It would affect about 55 utility customers in Arkansas, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, Ohio and Tennessee. The company said the "substantial rates were arrived at as a result of conferences with its customer companies."

The rates would be in addition to the $8,723,000 annual increases which Texas Gas now is collecting, subject to refund pending conclusion of a earlier suspension proceeding.

Bridge Stands as Monument to a Youth

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A $38,000 pedestrian bridge stands today over busy Rosemead Blvd. as a monument to a schoolboy killed by a truck, and 16 months' persistence of about 100 parents.

On the first day of school in September 1936, he braked on a heavily loaded truck and trailer failed. The truck struck a group of children. James Picha, 5, was killed. Three girls were seriously hurt.

Outraged parents of 400 pupils attending the nearby El Rancho High and Mary Miller Junior High, in the suburb of Rivera, went into action.

Mothers picketed the intersection and posted a sign, "We need an overpass."

A safety committee was formed. About 30 of its women members volunteered for traffic control duty. Rain or shine, they took their turns. Even after a state highway patrolman was assigned to the intersection at peak hours, they were there to help him or to take over when he was called away in emergencies.

Fathers visited state, county, and local officials to demand the pedestrian overpass.

"They said, 'It's an impossibility. It isn't feasible,'" Henry Purnell, 37, mechanical engineer and founding president of the safety committee, recalled yesterday. "It was the old brushoff all the way along."

Overtures went as high as the governor's office.

An official traffic count was promised but delayed. So the committee made its own count, which showed 5,000 vehicles passing the intersection at oh morning and afternoon rush hours. Community newspapers published the figures. Highway officials were on the scene the next day, Purnell said.

Last March, county and state agreed to share the cost of the overpass.

About 40 members of the committee stayed up until 4 a.m. to watch the final construction.

Early Losses in Oil, Motors, Aircraft

NEW YORK (AP) — Oils, motors and aircraft took losses early this afternoon as the Stock Market drifted off following an early start to the upside.

Losses of key stocks ran from fractions to around a point.

Prices were narrowly higher at the opening as a spill-over from yesterday's rally.

Profits were taken and various items of discouraging business news depressed sentiment.

Walker and Donathan to Start Game
MOBILE, Ala., (AP)—Potent scoring machines were announced today for Saturday's Senior Bowl game.

South Coach Paul Brown, a strong adherent of tight defenses, and Joe Kuharich, whose North team lost 21-7 last year because it couldn't stop fullback Don Boseler's drives, played some of their more publicized players on the defensive units.

The offensive players leave little to be desired, however, for the ninth annual game in which college seniors turn pro. The game will be played under pro rules.

Kuharich's offensive backfield includes Michigan State team mates Jim Ninowski, quarterback, and Walt Kowalevsky, fullback. The halfbacks are Mike Sommer, George Washington and Ray Nitschke, Illinois. Bobby Cox, Minnesota, will alternate with Ninowski.

Brown, coach of the Cleveland Browns, will counter with quarter back George Walker, Arkansas; halfbacks Phil King, Vanderbilt, and Dick Christy, All America from North Carolina State; and fullback Jimmy Taylor, Louisiana State.

Jay Donathan, Arkansas, is listed as offensive center in the South's probable lineup.

Sugar Hart in Decision Win

CHICAGO (AP)—Sugar Hart, who won't reach manhood until his 21st birthday next month, already is being tabbed as a top welter-weight title prospect.

He flashed powerful combinations and fine pulse last night against Larry Baker, a clever boxer whose crowding tactics did not give the youthful Philadelphia a chance to show his best.

But Hart handily won the televised 10 rounder at Chicago Stadium, receiving votes under the five-point maximum system of 49-41 by Referee Frank Sikora, 49-40 from Judge Howard Walsh and 49-42 from Judge Harold May.

Hart weighed 147 and his short opponent from Mount Vernon, N. Y., came in at 146. The victory was Hart's 23rd in 27 bouts and he has won 19 of them by knockout. Baker's record is now 21-12-3.

Emmet Splits Pair With Willisville

Emmet and Willisville cage teams split a pair last night in the Emmet gym. With the score tied 29-29 at the end of the regular game, Emmet senior girls pumped in five points to Willisville's 2 and took a 34-31 decision, in the overtime.

Justina Dougan hit for 19, Bobby Foulmer 10 and Lorraine Theiss 5. Peggy West made 16, Patsy Lowry 10 and Sherry Simpson 6.

Willisville senior boys rolled to a 72-50 win with Bailey getting 16, Simpson 14, West 10 and 8 apiece for Herring and Almond. Larry Faulkner looped 22, James Cummings 9, David Dougan 8 and Tillman Coffee 4.

Officials were Don Huckabee and Charles Gough. Reported by Peggy Cummings of Emmet.

West Virginia Seems to Have What It Takes

By DON WEISS

New 100 Yard Dash Record Approved

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic Assn.'s track and field rules committee today approved the 100-yard dash time of .99.3 by both Bobby Morrow, of Abilene Christian College, and Dave Sims of Duke University. The time equals a world record in that event.

The performances were among 1947 by college trackmen during 1957 which received approval at the NCAA's 52nd annual convention here.

Eight of the 14 qualified or surpassed the record.

NCAA Closes Meet With Little Fanfare

By JIM KENSIL

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The 32nd annual NCAA convention, as calm as this City of Brotherly Love, was all over today. There wasn't even any shouting.

The biggest noise of the four-day session came yesterday when the college football coaches applauded the humor and football knowledge of Vice President Nixon. The former third-string end at Whittier College (Calif.) addressed the College Football Coaches Assn at its annual luncheon. The affair honored Woody Hayes of Ohio State as Coach of the Year.

On the convention floor, there was only a slight stir of activity. Practically all concerned one topic—a controversial proposal from the NCAA Council to exempt the Army, Navy and Air Force academies from some recruiting regulations.

The convention voted temporary not before several delegates objected strongly. Eastern colleges indicated they may pass a stronger restrictive rule.

The proposed rule recognizes unique problems confronting the service academies in regard to tutoring prospective athletes so that they can meet stiff entrance requirements. It will be voted on in 1959.

Unlike many past years, the report of the Television Committee was accepted and endorsed without a dissent. It labeled the 1957 program a success and called the attention of the 1958 committee to the possible danger of pay-TV. There were no specific recommendations for a change from 1957.

The convention gave NCAA recognition to the Aluminum Bowl game in Little Rock, Ark.; the Citricado Bowl, Escondido, Calif.; and the Blue Grass Bowl at Louisville, Ky.

Nixon strongly endorsed America's sports program with entertaining remarks to the coaches in their own language of football.

New legislation passed by the convention made it a requirement for NCAA members to sponsor teams in at least four sports, including one each in the fall, winter and spring seasons. It also established a college division (small colleges) cross-country championship meet.

Perhaps the biggest news of the entire convention was Monday's action in which the council meted out penalties to Memphis State University and the University of Wichita for violations of the collegiate governing body's athletic

Justifiable Homicide Ruled in Deaths

STE. GENEVIEVE, Mo. (AP)—A verdict of justifiable homicide was returned by a coroner's jury last night in the deaths of two St. Louis men who were shot by their former employer at his home.

Although Memphis State was placed on two years probation and barred from all NCAA tournaments and cooperating events, the NCAA disclosed that the school may be permitted to defend its Sugar Bowl Basketball Tournament title in 1958 if the school's contract with the bowl is effective.

near Bloomfield Saturday night. Shot to death were Rainey C. Sellers, 39, and his nephew, James M. Akers, 25, who went to the home of their former employer, Alfred Hoffman, and demanded more money for work they had done at Hoffman's saw mill in Dupo.

Witnesses said the two men broke a latch on the door of Hoffman's home and forced their way inside. Hoffman grabbed a shotgun and fired twice after warning the men to leave. Hoffman said the men shouted threats that they would kill him before they broke the latch.
